

CNSystems Medizintechnik AG

CNSystems Medizintechnik AG is an Austrian company specialized in the development of non-invasive medical devices designed for the real-time evaluation of all medical conditions which are characterized by rapid and short-term changes in haemodynamics and autonomic CV-control parameters as well.

The broad range of applications by using the CNSystems' solutions offers a surplus value in many different medical fields closing the cycle of prevention, (early) diagnosis and monitoring.

The company succeeded in revolutionise the cardiovascular assessment by its main product, the [Task Force[®] Monitor](#) (Syncope assessment, AV-optimisation of CRT-pacemakers, e.g.) and establish the method of continuous non-invasive BP-monitoring also in perioperative, post anaesthesia and intensive care e.g. with a new product, the CNAP Monitor 500.

CNAP Monitor 500

The focus consists in raising the level of information to physicians and decreasing pain and risk of complications for the patients making as a result first class medical treatment cheaper and therefore affordable to the patients.

[News: Changed Contact Data for CNSystems in Germany ... \[more\]](#)